

PRACTICAL PEDAGOGY presents...

HOW TO HANDLE THE PAPER LOAD

Join colleagues from across the curriculum as we discuss peer review and other top five ways to handle responding to student writing. Whether you are fairly new to responding to student writing in your courses, or you're an old pro, there will be plenty of great conversation involving the many ways we can make responding to student writing more productive, less time-consuming, and an all-around better teaching and learning experience for our students and for ourselves. You bring your great ideas and questions, and (as always) we'll bring the free chocolate!
